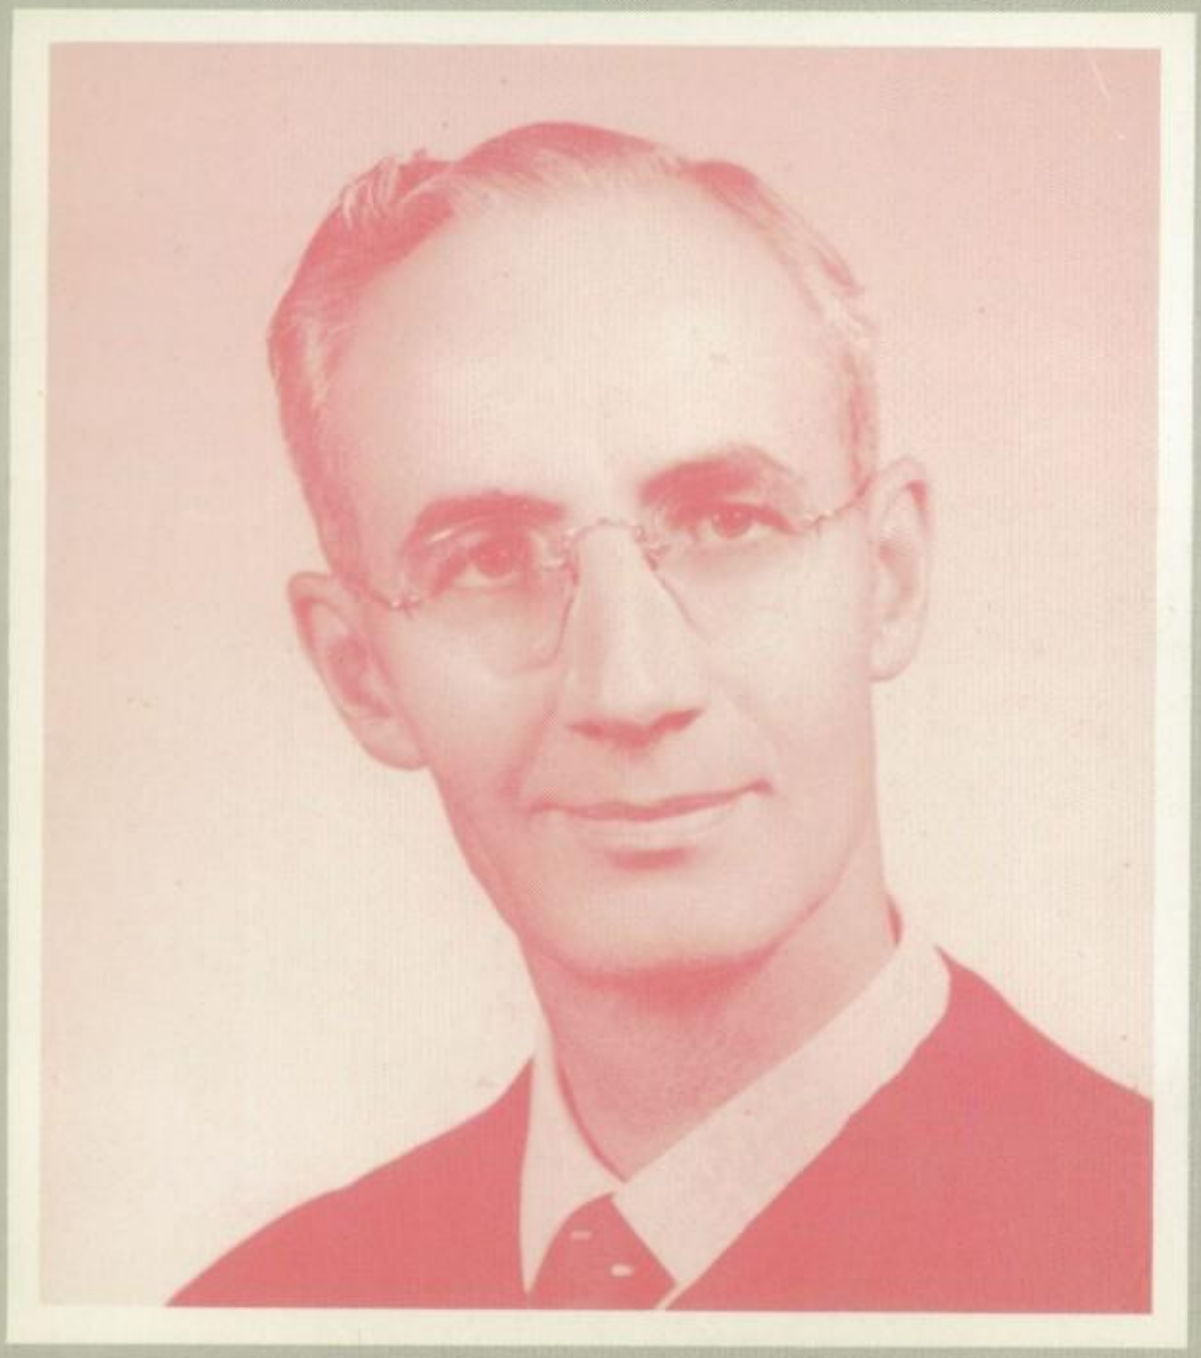
Br. J. H. Fitzgerald



Christopher Heffernan

We

Fifty years ago Br. Fitzgerald joined the Christian Brothers of Ireland. What can be said about him? He speaks with his heart and his heart burns with love for the greater glory of God. He has scattered the storms in many a mind and left there peace and contentment. We, who have known him so well, owe him a great debt – one that can never be repaid. For to us all he has been a scholar, a gentleman, and most of all, a friend.

dedicate . . .

We wish to give thanks to a most faithful and devoted friend of All Hallows, Mr. Christopher Heffernan, who this year celebrates his 26th year of service here. During his stay he has played a vital role in fostering our education and planning our future. Mr. Heffernan has long been known for his generous spirit of help to all and for that inevitable kind word to all his students. We salute him as a most loyal friend of All Hallows, and as the personification of all that makes the true Catholic gentleman.

OFFICE OF THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Graduates:

The lives of each of us are marked by milestones of one sort or another, some pleasant some unpleasant, but yet they are definite, clear, distinctive demarkations. Your high school graduation marks such a milestone in your lives, a mixed marking, partially pleasant because you have achieved some note of success, partially unpleasant, because you are leaving friends and breaking ties formed over many years and moulded in an environment and an atmosphere with those whose aims were similar to yours, namely, to grow in knowledge and especially to grow in the knowledge, love and service of God and country.

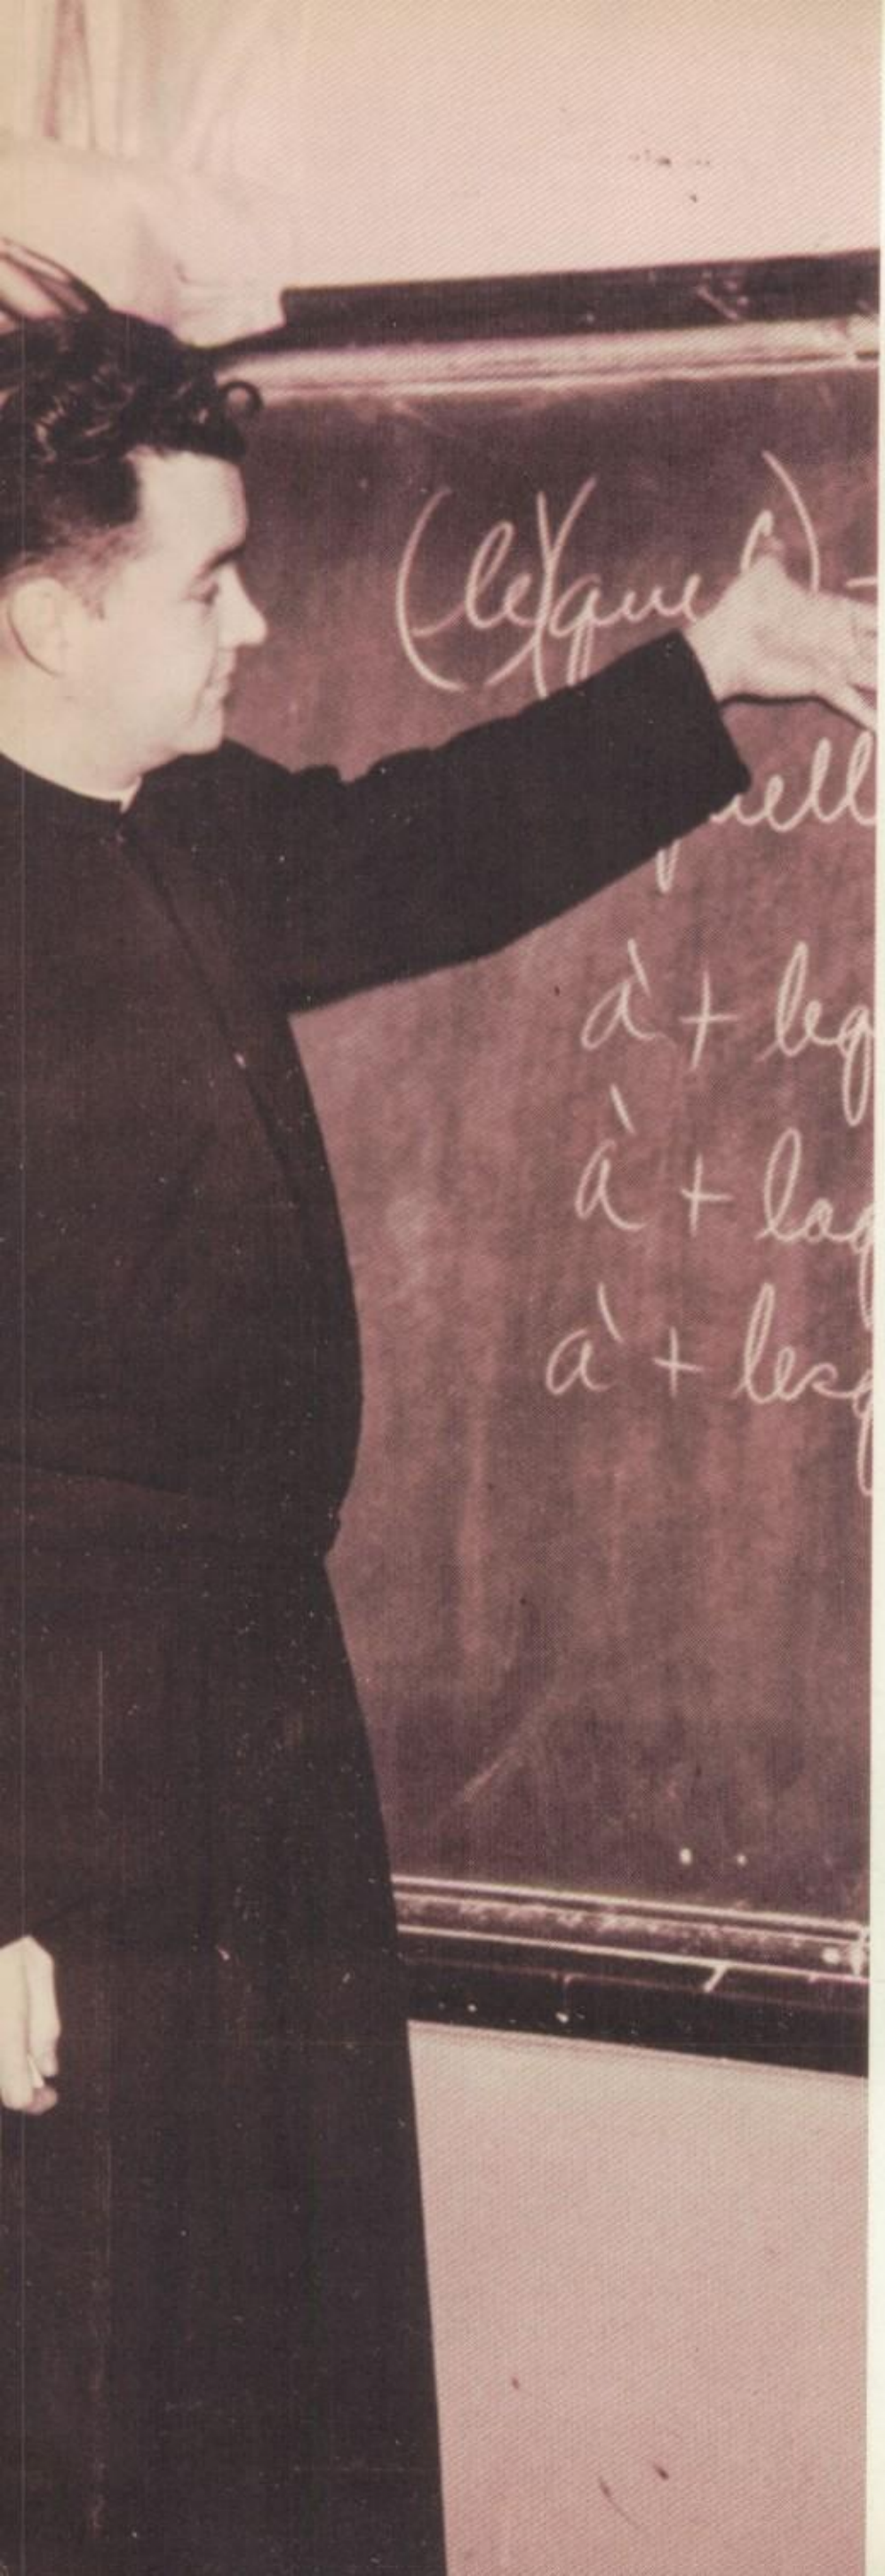
Spending four years of one's life in any one endeavor is an appreciable amount of time, but to have spent it usefully is indeed an accomplishment of which one may well be proud. You, yourselves, are proud now of your "fait accompli", your Parents, Relatives and Friends are likewise proud and we, your teachers here at All Hallows, may also boast of your achievements.

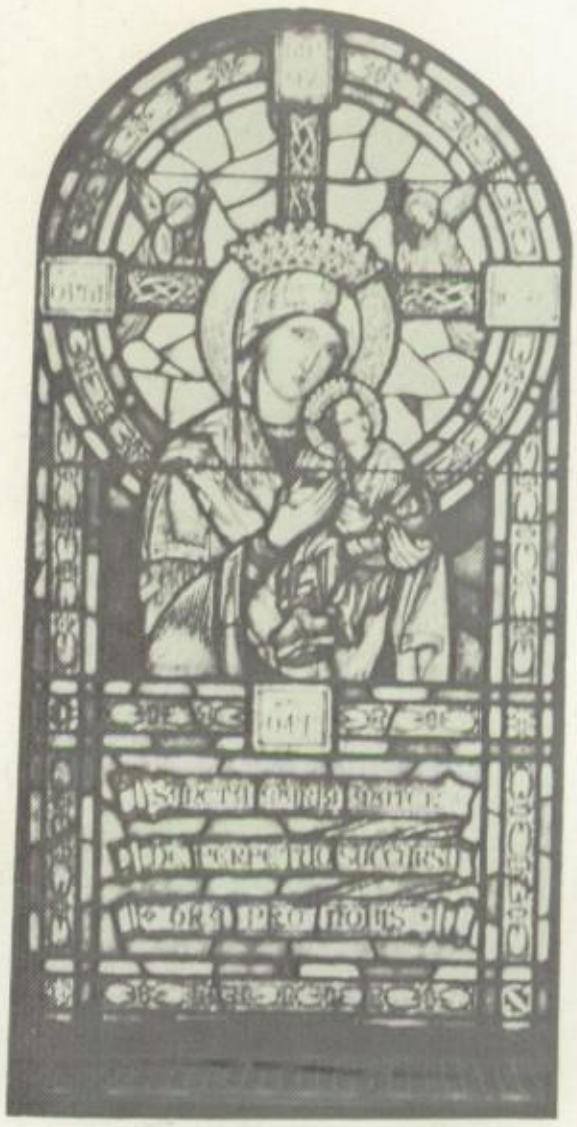
Many of you, leaving now, will, unfortunately, have no further ties with us; many more of you, will definitely continue your connection with and interest in your school, its hopes, ambitions and successes. However, for all of you, All Hallows prays for succes, a success which we sincerely hope will continue to be guided by love of God. May God keep, guide and bless each and every one of you.

Sincerely,

Bro. R.B. Power

Brother R. B. Power, Ph.D.
Principal.





The Good Teacher

Good teachers . . . should have perfect human formation, intellectual and moral. For the teaching office is a lofty position which calls for intellectual discernment and for goodness of heart, for a capacity for intuition and delicacy of spirit, for adaptability and adjustment as well as human depth, capable of bearing all for love of neighbor. Good teachers need a professional competency which should be at least above average and better yet, outstanding on all levels of instruction and in each of the specialized fields, if it is not to be unworthy of a mission which serves not merely the people and the State, but also God, the Church and souls.

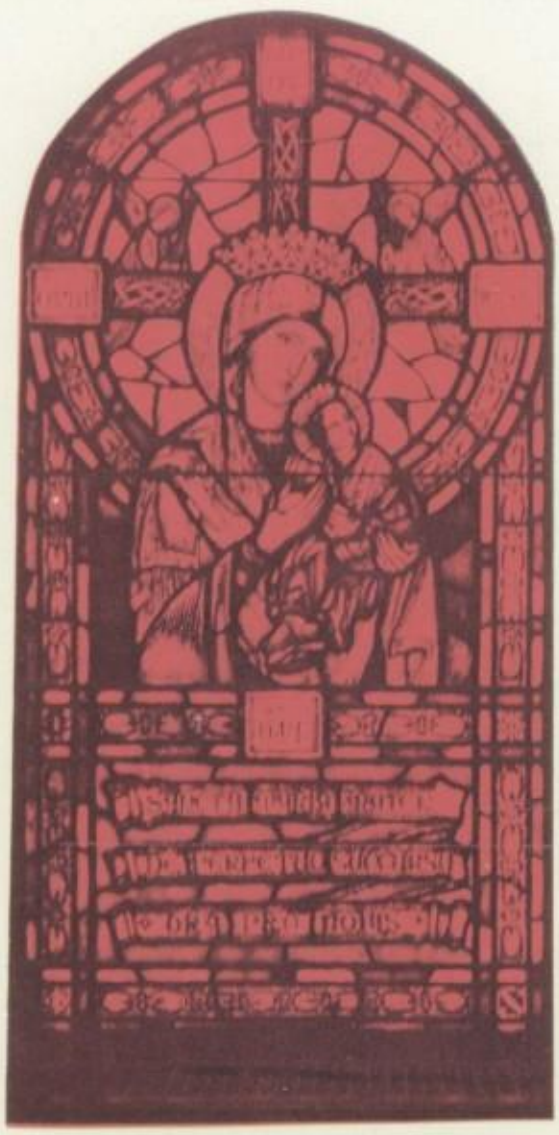
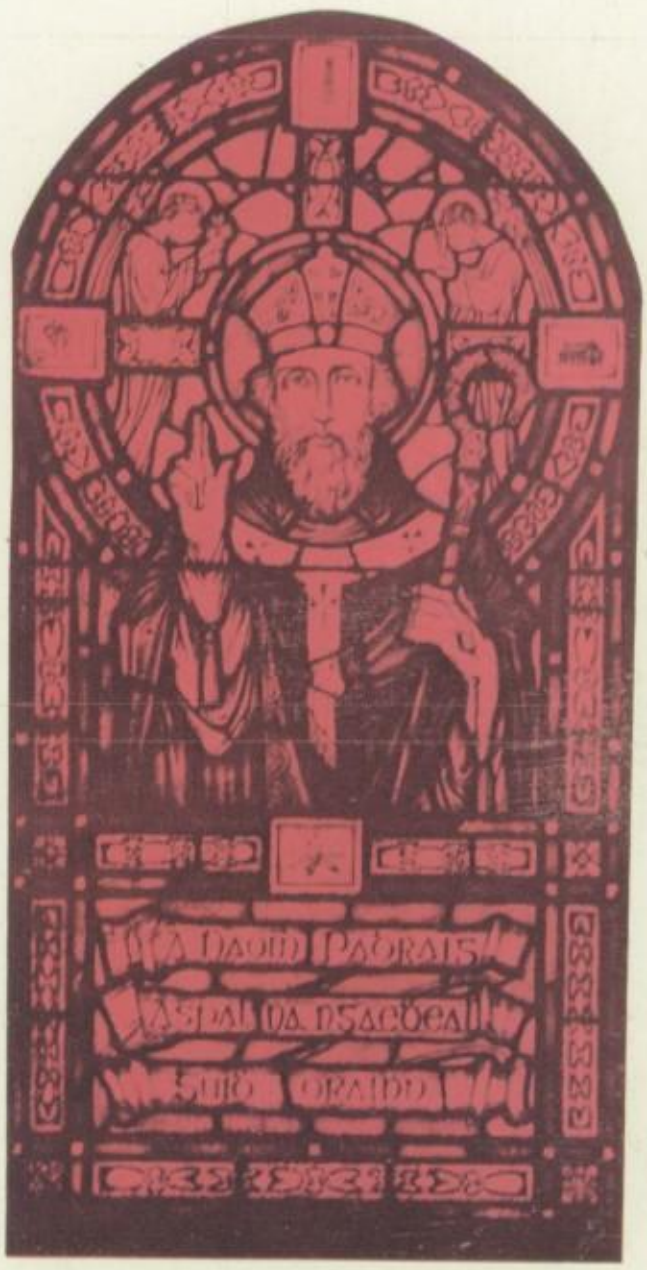
Importance of Christian Education

It is therefore as important to make no mistake in education, as it is to make no mistake in the pursuit of the last end, with which the whole work of education is intimately and necessarily connected. In fact, since education consists essentially in preparing man for what he must be and for what he must do here below, in order to attain the sublime end for which he was created, it is clear that there can not be true education which is not wholly directed to man's last end, and that in the present order of Providence, since God has revealed Himself to us in the Person of His Only Begotten Son, Who alone is "the way, the truth and the life," there can be no ideally perfect education which is not Christian education.

PIUS XI





seniors

WILLIAM P. ACOSTA

St. Anthony

Bill, a typical All Hallows man, has been a member of the "Blue and White" staff, the Bowling team, the Track team and, in his Senior Year, the Dance Committee. ARTHUR SCUDDER

IN MEMORIAM to an All Hallows man. To one who studied, played and knelt at Mass beside us, whom God has called away to be with us no more. But now you are with God, Arthur, and we pray you to remember us before the Heavenly Throne. That one day all of us may be with you in Heaven.

VALE

I gazed through half-shut eyes at the lazy summer sky;
June was gone forever, and 'twas well past mid-July.
Silently I sat there musing in my drowzy mind.
Thinking of the future, and the past that lay behind.
Then the fleecy clouds all floated downward from the sky
And their mass of hazy vapor all around me seemed to fly;
And when the mist had lifted and begun to disappear,
It stood there like a vision, so vivid and so clear:
The building I had entered so many times before
With Our Lady of All Hallows keeping vigil o'er the door.
Its handle turned by unseen hand, the portal opened wide;
I gazed in silent wonder, then slowly stepped inside.
There in his place of honor, just short of latria,
Encircled by the letters, "Pro Fide et Patria",
The sunlight falling on his wings, imparting golden shine,
The eagle gripped the perch he'd held since Nineteen-Hundred Nine.
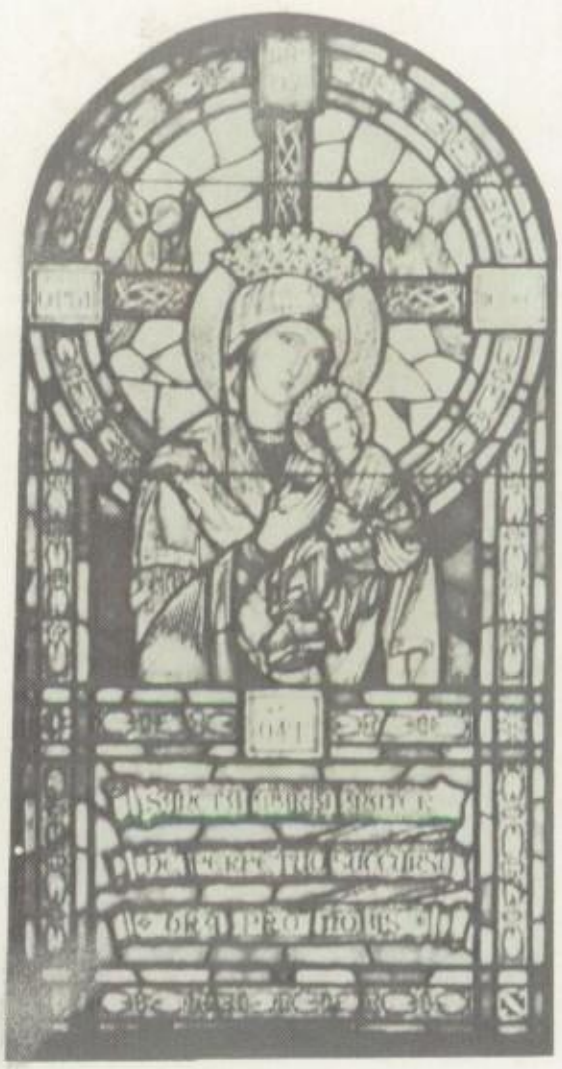
The office of our principal was just around the bend,
Where we'd found not just a leader, but also found a friend.
A school is but a group of boys; to keep it at its best,
He made sure each was blending with the efforts of the rest.
I walked down darkened corridors, pausing now to peer
In each deserted classroom, calling back each by gone year.
The blackboards without markings, each vacant desk and chair,
The lockers standing empty, the laboratories bare.
Brought memories of days I'd spent within their tacit walls:
And when it comes to classes, an A.H. man recalls
The teachers who instructed us and taught us all we know
Imparting every fact to us, explaining why 'twas so.
It's not just what they taught us, or because we passed each test,
But the very way they taught us that I remember best;
Their patience with our little jokes, their efforts, made this true:
The fact that they enjoyed their work made us enjoy it, too.
I stopped in at the chapel, that little room so dim
Where often we had entered to say a word to Him,
And there the thought occurred to me, arising to depart,
That of all the rooms within the school, this one was its heart.
To know Him and to serve Him, our always foremost aim,
That we, who are His followers, might glorify His name.
Just as we did within these walls, we'll do throughout the years;
Of all the rooms in which I paused, the one I found most dear
Was that in which my class and I had spent our final year.
Remembering the past events, which to us meant so much,
Of all our days, these very last had been the crowning touch.
Christmastime and Easter, the months that slowly passed,

They all meant something special, for here they were our last.
The Scholarships, the College Boards, each challenge we had faced
Had faded in the conquered past, ne'ermore to be replaced.
The Senior Prom, a magic blend of music and soft light;
You, king, and she, a princess, for one enchanted night;
The day of graduation, of which words could never tell;
As our parents watched us leave our school, they knew we'd chosen well.
But in the dark gymnasium, which once rocked to our cheers,
And lunchroom where we'd argued 'bout the Yanks for four long years,
Just as the answer comes to one, if long enough he delves,
I learned the secret of A.H.; it was the boys themselves.
As I stepped out in the air again, the thought ran through my mind
That guys like Joe in front of me, and Tom who sat behind,
Those in my class, the ones next door, and don't forget the rest,
The bond that lay between us had made All Hallows best.
A school is but a group of boys above all that is first,
No lesser than the best of them, no better than the worst.
At A.H. there was harmony, a blend of work and fun
Well tempered by comraderie; the group was just as one.
I remembered all the boys I'd known, whom I'd called friend with pride,
And suddenly old Joe and Tom were standing by my side.
We talked a while about the past, and then we talked some more
About the days that lay ahead and things that lay in store.
And visions of our futures seemed to rise about the street;
For Tom, the khaki uniform and sound of marching feet,
For Joe, was a position in the halls of industry,
For me, the ivy towers of a university.
We gazed beyond those first few years and saw clouds hanging low,
But the world now held no terror for me or Tom or Joe.
Our lives could not be daunted, our spirits not be harmed;
With knowledge, faith and honor, we would set forth fully armed.
I grasped Joe's hand in fond farewell; Tom added one more hand,
And from the mist they gathered and around us took their stand,
A thousand boys whose friendly grasp a giant chain did make
A chain of friendship that the miles or years could never break.
The time had come for parting; on separate paths we filed,
And the Lady of All Hallows gazed down on us and smiled
For she knew that golden eagle that I mentioned at the start
And the words "Pro Fide et Patria" were stamped upon each heart.

BY A SENIOR



Since however the younger generations must be trained in the arts and sciences for the advantage and prosperity of civil society, and since the family itself is unequal to this task, it was necessary to create that social institution, the school. But let it be borne in mind that this institution owes its existence to the initiative of the family and of the Church, long before it was undertaken by the State. Hence considered in its historical origin, the school is by its very nature an institution subsidiary and complementary to the family and to the Church. It follows logically and necessarily that it must not be in opposition to, but in positive accord with those other two elements, and form with them a perfect moral union, constituting one sanctuary of education, as it were, with the family and the Church. Otherwise it is doomed to fail of its purpose, and to become instead an agent of destruction.

"Religion In The Classroom"

Let it be loudly proclaimed and well understood and recognized by all, that Catholics, no matter what their nationality, in agitating for Catholic schools for their children, are not mixing in party politics, but are engaged in a religious enterprise demanded by conscience. They do not intend to separate their children either from the body of the nation or its spirit, but to educate them in a perfect manner, most conducive to the prosperity of the nation. Indeed a good Catholic, precisely because of his Catholic principles, makes the better citizen, attached to his country, and loyally submissive to constituted civil authority in every legitimate form of government.

Glee Club

This year, the second in which the Glee Club has given its annual concert, the promises of last year's group have fully matured. With the magic wand of Mr. James Obrotka guiding them, they gave a truly inspiring performance at the Christmas Concert. The Concert was well attended and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The highlight of this year is to be the Spring Concert, in which the Glee Club will present selections from Rodger and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma" and from Jerome Kern. Undoubtedly, it will be a smashing success as was the Christmas Concert. We wish the Glee Club a continuance of the fine season that they have already enjoyed with the firm conviction that they are headed for even greater heights and will be a credit to Mr. O'brotka and the moderator Br. McPadden.

Dance Committee

Under the able leadership of Br. Sullivan the Dance Committee has staged four very successful dances this year. Climaxing the Committee's activities for the year was the Senior Prom which took place at the Hotel Biltmore.

All the dances have been well attended and good times were had by all. With such a successful season to look back upon the dance committee can be very proud of its past year's record. The members of the student body wish to thank Br. Sullivan, the dance band and the members of the Committee for providing them with such good entertainment throughout the year.

This year the Debating Society has again achieved an outstanding record in both the National Forensic League and the Catholic Forensic League, under the capable direction of Mr. Marcoux.

The club's greatest success was on Feb. 22 when two members, James Morrissey, who has held the Degree of Distinction in the NFL for two years, and Robert Magliola, who received his Degree of Excellence in the NFL this year, went undefeated in five out of six rounds of Debating at the NFL Grand Tournament. Only in the final round did they lose to St. John's Prep, to become the second place team in New York City.

Other achievements of the Debating Society include fifth place out of thirty schools in the CFL Debate Tournament, as well as participation in six other CFL Speech Tournaments. Also listed among the successes of the Club are the Peacock Debate Tournament, the Father Gannon Debate Tournament, the American Legion Speech Contest and the Hearst Oratory Contest. Altogether the members have won well over one hundred interscholastic debates.

By June, Joseph Bader, Robert Magliola, and Cyrus Roberts will have received the Degree of Distinction in the NFL, the highest award granted by this organization. This will bring the total to four at All Hallows.

Congratulations are due to the members and their moderator, Mr. Marcoux for this very successful year.

The Halloween

This year the staff of the Halloween, under the competent direction of Br. J. B. Walsh, has endeavored to present a book, that far surpasses all of its predecessors. Having been handicapped by a late start, we feel that the book truly exemplifies the hard work of the staff, combined with the cooperation that the school has so willingly lent us. We must also give due thanks to our printer-Bradbury, Sayles and O'Neill and to our excellent photographer, Mr. George Routel and Co. We, the members of the staff sincerely hope that the "1957 Halloween" is a true representation of the high standards of All Hallows.

Father Flynn addressing the Fathers at the Communion Breakfast.

The Father's Club has had another successful year under the moderation of Brother Rice. The Block A Dinner, the College Forum Night and the Parent's Dance, a new addition to the exercises sponsored by the Club, were well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all present. At the Father and Son Communion Breakfast, the highlights of the years activities, we were honored to have Father Flynn, President of St. John's University, as the chief speaker. We would like to thank the Father's Club and its President, Mr. Mullins for the fine work they have done this year.

This year, as in previous years, the Library League has faithfully accomplished the many tasks associated with maintaining a library of this caliber. Miss O'Reilly, our librarian for ten years, has purchased a large amount of the better books now available and is fast supplementing the supply of both modern and classical works. The League, under her direction, cares for the physical needs of the library by bookbinding, cataloging, mending old books, and arranging volumes on their shelves.

Once again the League is doing its splendid job, quietly and efficiently. The organization is appreciated for its wonderful work.

Reciting the Rosary during the Retreat.

In keeping with the ideals of a true Christian education, the activities of the students of All Hallows center around the religious program. As in past years two retreats were held. The first retreat, held just before Christmas was for the Freshmen and Sophomores. The Junior and Senior retreat was held on Jan. 28 to Jan. 30. The students were fortunate in having Father Richard, a member of the New York Mission Board as their retreat master.

In addition to this, the students were able to attend Mass and receive Holy Communion in the gym every First Friday. Every Tuesday, Father Traube, the spiritual director of the Sodality, was available to hear the Confessions of the students who wished to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Thanks is due to the students and the faculty of All Hallows and to the Priests who gave generously of their time to make this, the most important phase of our high school education, the great success that it was.

Sodality

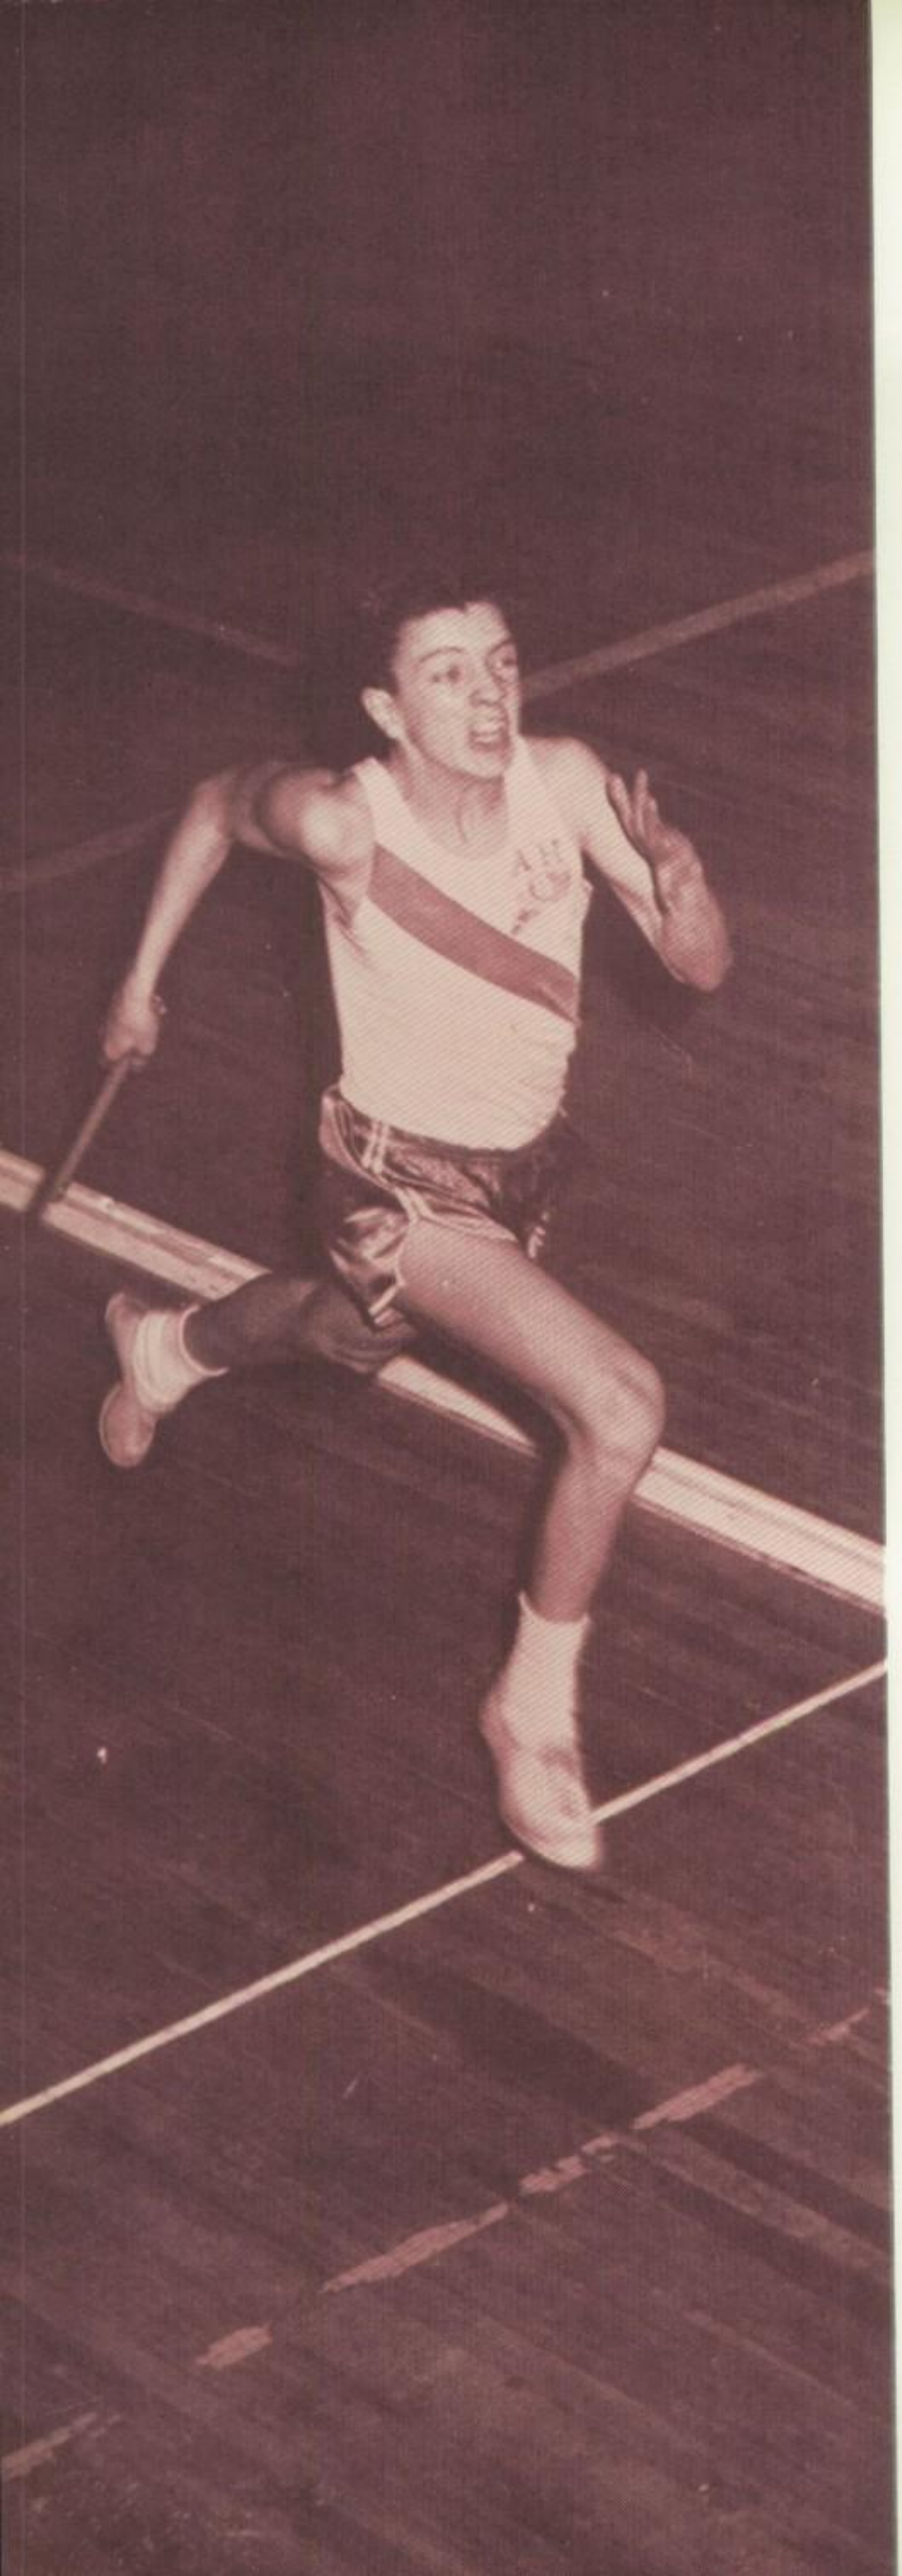
This year the Sodality has successfully undertaken several important projects. Its most important work has been the building of the Shrine to Our Blessed Mother, in the second floor corridor. The Shrine was financed through the voluntary donations of the students, and built entirely by the Sodalists under the direction of their moderator, Brother Murphy.

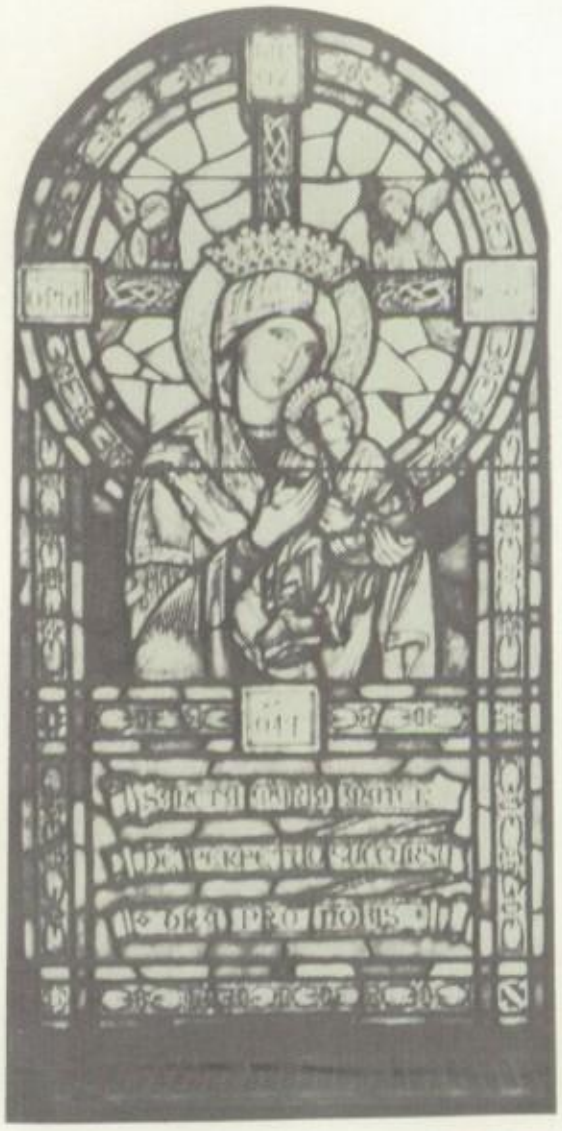
In addition to this, the Sodality has undertaken several other activities. Among these are included the collection of magazines for the Catholic Missions, the Catholic press month display, and the Vocation Week display.

Under the spiritual direction of Father Traube, and with the organization of Brother Murphy, and the officers, James Morrissey, the Prefect, John O'Regan, Vice-Prefect, John Moran, Secretary, and Carl Degenhardt, the Treasurer, this year has been the most successful since its initiation at All Hallows.

Father Traube

J. Minihan, R. San Guliano, and J. Mulligan.





Hence the true Christian, product of Christian education, is the supernatural man who thinks, judges and acts constantly and consistently in accordance with right reason illumined by the supernatural light of the example and teaching of Christ; in other words, to use the current term, the true and finished man of character. For, it is not every kind of consistency and firmness of conduct based on subjective principles that makes true character, but only constancy in following the eternal principles of justice, as is admitted even by the pagan poet when he praises as one and the same "the man who is just and firm of purpose." And on the other hand, there cannot be full justice except in giving to God what is due to God, as the true Christian does.

K. McClory.

At the start of the season, the team found itself, back among its same old rivals as last year, Cardinal Hayes, Manhattan Prep, St. Helena's, Stepinac, Mount St. Michael. The starting five consisted of three juniors and two seniors, all of which displayed tremendous playing skill throughout the year.

Beginning the season successfully, the team defeated last year's City-Champs, St. Francis by a score of 69-63. After successfully knocking off the Mount, La Salle, and Power, it appeared that we were on our way to a successful year. But our good luck didn't last long enough, and shortly thereafter we were defeated by Manhattan and Hayes which pretty well knocked us out of inter-league competition.

However the team did have a fairly successful year, winning eleven and dropping only five. This was largely due to the efforts of our high scoring men — Frank McArdle, Brian Mallon, Ken McClory, Kev. Reilly, and Joe Woods. Invaluable assistance was rendered to these men by Allen, Quinn, DePompeo, Feighan, Dallas Tansey, Buchanan and Carrol.

As a result of their own hard work and of the competent advice of Mr. King and Br. Carr, the team wound up the season by receiving invitations to both the St. Raymond's Tournament, and the E.S.C.I.T. Tournament held at Newport, R. I.

This year our J.V. basketball team has had an extremely successful season. Under the able coaching of John Mazziotta the squad won 13 games and lost only 4. The season was climaxed by the thrilling loss by only one point to La Salle in the finals of the playoffs. We have high hopes for the support these boys will eventually give to our Varsity.

This season our Frosh Basketball team has an excellent record of 16 wins and 2 losses, resulting in a tie in the Bronx Division. Two of the wins were against Manhattan, and two against Hayes. St. Helena's and Hayes Annex also fell victim. As the team rounds into shape, our hopes for the City Championships rise. Coach Bro. Clarkson has been largely instrumental in the team's success and the squad extends their thanks to him for his help.

Indoor Track

After a busy cross-country season, Mr. Beal and his team lost no time launching an indoor offensive. This year the Freshman gave good support to the team, giving us high hopes for our next year's team. The Varsity, however, furnished the members of the Mile Relay, which did exceptionally well this year. A first place trophy was captured at the Polar Bear Meet and numerous medals added to the glory. It can be said that much of the team's success is due to Mr. Beal's incessant drive which keeps the team on the move.

Ed McAloon paced the Varsity with most of his tunes in the 14 minute bracket. The big disappointment of the season was our loss to Rice in the I.C.B., but the otherwise successful season and the numerous medals and trophys won have given this years squad a record to be proud of.

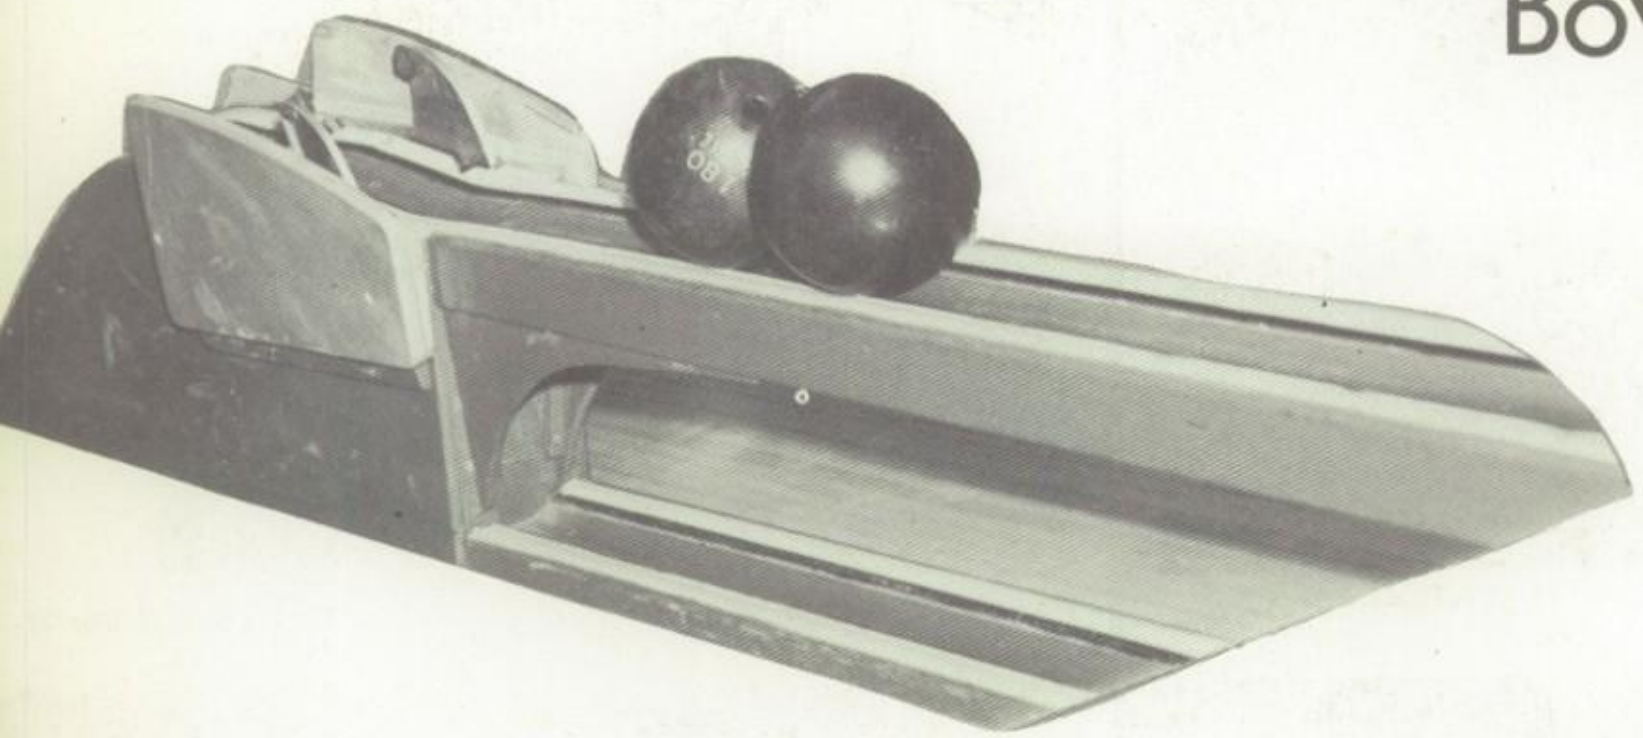
Bowling



Through the untiring efforts of Br. Nagle, Bowling, for the first time in the history of the school, has now been included on the extra-curricular activity list. Starting in late September, the teams – both school and league – have had very successful seasons. All bowling activities are carried on at the Yankee Stadium Lanes, which are within easy walking distance of the school.

The players have won many trophies – both individually and as a team. Among the top bowlers of the School are Jack McCarthy, Wally Sommers and Dick Papscoe. Having gained such a strong foothold in its initial year, the Bowling Team will undoubtedly remain as one of the most popular school activities for many years to come.

Varsity Baseball

The 57 Gaels show promise of becoming one of the great teams in All Hallows history. Supported by a large group of returning veterans the team has had several opportunities to get good practice and should be ready to provide stiff opposition for the rest of the league.

The pitching staff is lead by veteran X. Eboli and T. Mannion, who had a very successful season with the Jay Vee last year.

The infield has four veterans in R. DePompeo, R. Feighan and T. Roach and H. Sheerin who came up from the J. V. These experienced ballplayers will give the pitchers good support and provide a steady influence on the entire team by avoiding miscues.

P. Colangelo, J. Tansey and T. Bochenko will provide strong support, as well as good hitting, by their play in the outfield. The Gaels first game of the season proved to uphold the hopes of the team by ending in a 5 to 4 victory over Xavier. We hope that the remainder of the season will be as successful.

Due to an early printing date the Jay-Vee article and pictures had to be omitted.

The proper purpose of Christian education is to form Christ in every student. "My little children for whom I am in labor again until Christ be formed in you," are Saint Paul's words expressing the idea of Christian education. For this reason Christian education takes in all life, with a view of elevating it to the supernatural sphere. Its resultant is the Christian and not merely the gentleman. The man who acts on reason and on Faith, "who has put on the Mind of Christ," the true and finished man of character. What the pagan poet Horace called the "man who is just and firm of purpose" means to the Christian, the man just with the justice of God and firm in carrying out the purpose of God. The educated Christian is not at odds with life about him but with its wrongs. He does not stunt his natural abilities but develops and perfects them by coordinating them with the supernatural.

Graduation Day — which seemed so far off when we first entered All Hallows eight years ago — is now fast approaching. For us, it is June 8th, 1957. This date marks the end of the first lap of our journey along the path of learning and the beginning of a new course for us, the forty boys in the Class of '57. As other classes before us have, we too, pause to look back on this, our last year as grammar school students.

When we returned to All Hallows in September, 1956, we found we had a new teacher — Brother J. B. Clarkson — new to us and new to the school. It didn't take us long to get acquainted and under his capable guidance, we began preparation for the January Regents which were to be our passports to high school. Our days were full not only with the regular schedule of classes to which we were well accustomed but also with two new courses introduced by Brother R. B. Power, our principal. These were Gym under Mr. Pobuk's dirction and Art under Brother Patterson. Through these classes, our bodies became more adept physically and our minds, more appreciative of the great beauty of art.

Christmas vacation brought us a rest from school routine and "fun and more fun" as prescribed by Brother Clarkson. On our return in January, we resumed our studies even more diligently than ever for the English and Math Regents were scheduled in three weeks. Most of us did well and reaped the reward of our earnest efforts. With these Regents behind us, we breathed a sigh of relief and satisfaction.

However, we did not have our noses to the grindstone all this time. Most of us participated in various school activities. Suddenly, we found ourselves the leaders in the extra-curricular affairs of the grammar school. Some of us took charge of the school paper, "Gram News". Others participated in football, basketball and softball. While our records were not spectacular, every boy felt he had given his all and had gained a true sense of sportsmanship. In addition to these sports, many of us devoted our talents to Copper Class, Photo-Coloring, Glee Club, Band and Music Appreciation. All of these proved a pleasant respite from the tedium of the classroom and provided an interesting diversion.

During this year, as in all our other years at All Hallows, our spiritual development was as complete as our temporal. Lent brought an increase in our fervor and just prior to Easter vacation, we joined the Freshmen and Sophomores in the Annual Retreat. All of us gained a greater appreciation of our religion from the eloquent talks of our Retreat Director. We were also privileged to represent All Hallows Grammer School at the special Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral on October 8th, in celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the arrival of the Christian Brothers of Ireland in New York.

Now at the time of our departure from our beloved grammar school, we fully realize the tremendous effort the Brothers have expended in passing on to us the essential of Christian manhood and Christian education. To each of them individually but especially to Brother Power and Brother Clarkson, we say thanks. This history would not be complete without mentioning the deep debt of gratitude we owe our parents. Without their sacrifices and their love, none of this would have been possible. We hope that we will be able to fulfill their expectations and pray that with the divine help of our Saviour, Jesus Christ, we will.

Mibget Gael Squad

This year the Midget Gaels got off to a bad start, losing their first five games. Then in the latter part of the season showing their Gael spirit they won their last two games. We will be looking to this team under the able leadership of Brother Hanley in future years for the team spirit they have shown.

The Junior Gaels under the leadership of Brother Boyle, had an exceptional fine season. This team is proof that the Varsity and J. V. teams in years to come will be of the same calibre as they are now.

PRAYER

I believe, my Saviour, that thou art truly and substantially present under these species which are visible to my eyes. I know that they are no longer bread and wine: it is thine adorable Body, it is thy precious Blood; for thou hast said it Lord, thou art Truth itself, thou hast said it by thy sacred and all-powerful word, and I know that all things obey thy voice.

On the Cross thou didst only hide thy Divinity: here thou hidest even thy Humanity: I believe that both are present in this Sacrament; grant that one day I may have the grace to behold them in it.
